VOL. LXXVIII, NUMBER 22

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS of the Antioch Lions Club held an informal dinner Thursday evening for Frank Kennedy where they awarded him a Braille watch. The local club, in addition to furnishing Kennedy with the watch, have made arrangement for him to receive a Leader Dog. Kennedy is presently taking Braille courses from the Hadley School for the Blind, also sponsored by the Antioch Lions Club. Left to right, seated, Maynard Schneider, Leonard Roblin, president, Frank Kennedy, Dan Duganski, Ward Lear, Preston Reckers Jr. Seated, Tom Haviland, Dr. Albert Bucor, and Bill Seemann.

ANTIOCH'S MAIN STREET at about 9:30 a.m. Monday morning, November 25. A few cars are parked along the street, beside the flags at half-mast that had lined the street each day since the assassination of the President of The United States.

THE PRESIDENT IS DEAD, and at the time of the funeral Antioch's Main Street lies deserted, lined with flags at half-mast. The picture was taken at 11:30 a.m. Monday, November 25.

Struck By Auto, Mike Alsing Killed

Michael M. Alsing, 15 years old, was killed Sunday evening when he was struck by a car as he was walking east on Route 173 near Third Avenue in California Subdivision.

The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Alsing, Linden Lane, Antioch, and a student at Antioch Community High School.

The boy was struck by a car driven by Kenneth J. Heath, 21 years old, of Channel Lake. Deputies said that young Heath told them he was driving west on Route 173 and was in the act of passing two other cars when his car struck young Alsing. He did not see the boy until a moment before he struck him and could not stop. There were no skid marks, deputies said, and Heath's car came to rest 449 feet west of the body.

A witness, the driver of the car ahead of Heath, which he was passing, said he was driving west at 42 miles an hour when Heath started to pass him. He saw the boy walking along the south edge of the pavement just before young Heath's car struck him. The car ahead of him, a red Corvair, proceeded west without stopping.

Kenneth Heath was charged.

Death of President is Great Shock

The assassination of President John F. Kennedy occurred while Congressman Robert McClory was in Seattle, Washington. The hearings of the Subcommittee on Natural Resources and Power on water pollution, in which he was taking part, were interrupted by the stunning announcement and the session was immediately adjourned in respect to the Chief Executive.

Congressman McClory telephoned his Washington office and instructed his staff to release the following statement:

"I am deeply shocked at the tragic assassination of President Kennedy. This is a dark day in our nation's history. I extend my deepest sympathy to Mrs. Kennedy and their children, as well as to the other members of the Kennedy family."

Congressman McClory indicated he will return to Washington without delay to attend the funeral and other memorial services for the martyred President.

"Mr. Roberts" On Dec. 29

The Palette, Masque & Lyre Theater Group will launch its next play at the PM&L Theatre on Saturday, December 28. It will also be shown on Dec. 29. "Mr. Roberts" will be the play shown. Curtain time will be at 8:30 p.m. The play will also be presented the next weekend, January 4 and 5.

The play will also be presented the next weekend, January 4 and 5.

Entertainment of various kinds will be presented free to the public during the Christmas Fair at the Antioch Community High School this weekend.

The Fair will open at 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 30, with the exhibits of the merchants on display and Larry Tobler, King of the Banjo, entertaining. Tobler has appeared on leading TV shows such as Ed Sullivan and Garry Moore. Local fans will remember him from the TV show, Bozo's Circus. During World War II he was in the Special Services Division entertaining men of the armed forces in England, France and other European theaters of war.

Mr. Tobler says, "It is a shame so few people know the banjo. It is the only American instrument, as American as ice cream or the flag itself."

A Style Show also will be presented Saturday night.

The show will feature items suitable for Christmas gifts, and will include selections from Gibbs & Jensen's, Marianne's, Barnstable's Department Store, the Tot Shop, Klass Men's Wear, Shoes By George, Taylor's Shoe Store, and Town for Men and Boys. Eight items from each of the exhibitors will be shown.

The Style Show will be staged by Mrs. Richard Nuytens of Camp Lake, and will feature professional models. The show will be presented twice on Sunday, afternoon and evening, in addition to the Saturday night showing.

Thanksgiving Day, 1963, will not be quite the happy holiday of other years.

Our uniquely American holiday, instituted by the Pilgrim Fathers to give thanks for the bounty of our land, is besmirched this year by the recent violence of two Americans not worthy of the name. Two Americans who set their own will above the laws of God and man.

It's doubtful if the nation has ever felt such collective shock as that precipitated by the bullet of the sniper that cut short the life of President John F. Kennedy. Incredible horror gripped all decent people as they heard the news of the act of violence that ended the life of the young and brilliant man who held the highest office in the nation.

And when Jack Ruby appointed himself judge, jury and executioner, and fired a bullet into the body of the man accused of the President's murder, we felt that our nation was dissolving into lawlessness.

But we still have much to be grateful for as we celebrate Thanksgiving in 1963. Gratitude that our nation's system of government provides for an able man to step swiftly into the breach left by the death of the President; gratitude for the magnificent courage of the First Lady, who could somehow submerge her personal grief to join in paying due honor to her husband, the fallen President; gratitude that in a nation of millions, the tremendous majority wanted to see the man accused of the murder of the President receive his punishment, if he was guilty, by the due process of law and order. Gratitude that lawless men of violence are still a small minority.

P. O. Plans For Heavy Xmas Mail

Thanksgiving Day can be an even happier holiday for the family already planning Christmas shopping and mailing.

This observation came today from Postmaster Roy Kufalk, who predicted another heavy mail volume for Antioch this Christmas.

Mr. Kufalk said he has received reports from the Post Office Department in Washington, D.C., that a record Christmas mail volume of nearly 12 billion pieces is expected nationally during December.

Our post office will be catching it both ways—going out and coming in. "I hope the residents of Antioch will begin their Christmas shopping and mailing tomorrow if they have not already done so."

Mr. Kufalk suggested that several hours planning during this Thanksgiving holiday can be of immense value in saving time and trouble later on Christmas mailing. Here are a few good tips:

1. Dig out last year's mailing list if you have one, or make up a list if you don't have one.

2. Check for any changes in address and make any corrections wherever possible. For the new addresses of local family members and friends who have moved the

School Board Hears Report on Survey of Curriculum

William Kemmerer, Guidance Counsellor at Antioch Community High School, started a curriculum survey among graduates of the school in 1962. He reported results of the survey of 1963 graduates to the Board of Education of the school at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

Mr. Kemmerer contacts all graduates of the school by mail, asking them to reply to several questions on the school's curriculum, in the light of their experience since graduation. The graduate is asked to express his opinion as the subject he studied in high school which he found most valuable; the least valuable; the weakest subject (the least effective course, or one they think should be dropped), and any course they feel should be added to the school's curriculum.

The questionnaire is sent to students now in college, to former students who are employed, to those in the service and to the unemployed.

Mr. Kemmerer intends to evaluate the responses at the end of a five-year period. He feels that in this time a pattern may emerge in the answers which could prove valuable in improving the school's curriculum.

Of 122 1963 graduates, only 47 returned answers to the questionnaire.

David Cain, representative of Jeddle & Cain, accountants for the school, reported that $160,000 of tax money which had been invested in government bills had come due. He discussed reinvestment of the money with the board. It will be invested in bills coming due in January, February and May, as the money is needed. A representative of the accounting firm is present at each board meeting to report on the handling of school accounts, according to A. L. Dittman.

The bid of Antioch Electric Co. (Gordon Volting) was accepted for fixtures, etc., to improve the lighting in the 1915, 1927 and 1952 additions to the building. Five companies entered bids for the work.

Ted Larson, school attorney, reported to the board on school legislation passed by the recent General Assembly. He drew the attention of the board to a new House Bill which provides that the Board of Education must have liability insurance coverage on all employees.

Superintendent A. L. Dittman reported to the board a new rule ending the custom of excusing students from school for the opening day of duck hunting season.

Superintendent Dittman pointed out that conditions have changed so radically in recent years that the custom was no longer compatible with sound administration.

Taxpayer Group Files New Suit

Robert Bowman, president of the Association of Collective Taxpayers, announced Tuesday that a new suit has been filed today against the Building Commission and the Lake County authorities in reference to the building of the new court house in Waukegan.

An appeal on a similar suit is now pending in the Supreme Court; a petition to rehear a previous appeal.

Paul Hamer, Northbrook attorney, filed the suit for a group of taxpayers. He stressed the fact that the suit was not being filed by the Association of Collective Taxpayers, but by a group of taxpayers, some of whom were members of the Association.

There are six counts in the new suit, according to Mr. Hamer.

1. The suit questions the legality of the $5,000.00 transfer of funds from the Lake County Board of Supervisors to the Building Commission. The transfer, he says, was made while the former suit was pending, a fact of which the Supreme Court was not aware, he says.

2. The transfer of $650,000.00 made over a two year period. The Supreme Court previously ruled that the complainants should have filed sooner than they did. In this suit, they ask the Supreme Court to specify a time limit during which suit can be filed.

3. The third count deals with the legality of the transfer of public lands to the Building Commission by the County Board, without including a reverter clause in the deed. This is illegal, they contend, as without the reverter clause—providing that the lands will revert to

Lake County Will Vote on Junior College

Dr. W. C. Petty, Lake County Superintendent of Schools, has announced that a referendum will be held on the petition to determine whether or not a junior college shall be built in Lake County.

"The preponderance of evidence at the November 21st hearing," Dr. Petty said, "indicates that the people wanted an election held on the petition and wanted it held on the territory described in the petition."

The junior college district set up in the petition which had been presented to Dr. Petty excluded the high school districts of Barrington, Lake Forest and Highland Park. Dr. Petty said there was some protest at the hearing against excluding these districts, but the evidence showed that the people wanted an opportunity to vote on the petition as presented.

An election can't be held for forty days after the hearing, Dr. Petty said, so he has not set a date for a vote to be held.

Cookies For Downey Drive Launched

Women — and men — of Lake County will have the opportunity to bring happiness to hundreds of hospitalized veterans by baking cookies in the annual "cookies for Downey" program.

Members of the Junior and High School Red Cross will also be baking cookies for this program, both at home and at school.

In the past many women's organizations have gathered at members' homes to spend a day baking cookies.

Groups and individuals can bring cookies to the Red Cross Chapter House at 308 Julian St., Waukegan, from now until December 14.

Junior and High School students will pack cookies in large boxes on December 7 and December 14 at the Chapter House.

Boys and girls enjoy this activity for they realize that they are bringing joy to the veterans at Downey.

People wishing to join in the "Cookies for Downey" program can get information by calling the Red Cross Chapter, Ont. 2-4044.

Second Sabin Oral Sunday December 8

The second Sabin Oral Sunday will be held at the Antioch Community High School on Sunday, December 8.

People who took their first dose of the vaccine will take the second dose on this day. Those who missed Antioch's first Sabin Oral Sunday in October can take the first dose on Dec. 8. An additional clinic will be held on Feb. 2.

Almost 5,000 people took advantage of the chance to get the Sabin Oral Vaccine at the first clinic, held on October 13 at the Antioch Community High School. Dr. James Kopriva, Medical Chairman of the Sabin Oral Sunday in Antioch, reports that the number of teenagers taking the vaccine was comparatively low in the first clinic.

Despite the large number of people who took the vaccine at Antioch High School on October 13, there was no waiting line at any time. Publicity and organization of Sabin Oral Sunday was handled by the Lake Region Jaycees and Jayettes. Antioch Volunteer chairman is Donald Poulter. Reeves Drug Store will supply the vaccine. Local doctors will be in attendance, as at the first administering of the vaccine.

Courthouse Notebook

BY LOU BURNIN

One of the toughest things to find around the Lake County courthouse today, outside of the various judges' chambers, of course, is anyone who now or ever favored the judicial amendment proposition voted on last November.

Office-holders, county employees, precinct committeemen, and brethren of the bar are shaking their heads and muttering in their coffee mugs about some of the provisions of the judicial reform bill which were glossed over in pre-election publicity in favor of the more desirable aspects of the bill.

Many of them are now recalling that they opposed the constitutional amendment right from the start which makes one wonder how the amendment received enough votes to pass if everybody was against it.

If you see crowds of people wandering around the courthouse these days with a lost look on their faces they are probably looking for a courtroom or the state's attorney's office.

There is more than a little confusion attendant on the relocation of various offices and courtrooms, not the least of which is occasioned by the shift of the state's attorney staff to Waukegan's City Hall.

All the bills aren't yet on the latest re-alignment of offices, but we anticipate some cries of anguish from the county board when the final cost of the various projects is totted up.

Particularly in view of the fact that the shuffling of offices is supposed to be a temporary measure until the new courthouse is completed.

State Senator Robert Coulson surprised no one at his recent testimonial dinner when he announced that he would seek re-election to the Senate post in the 1964 elections, but his booklet, "Illinois in the 1970's", which was distributed to the guests, has raised a few eyebrows.

Sen. Coulson writes of 11 fields in which new leadership and inspiration are needed if state government and local government as we know it are to be preserved and are to continue effective in a changing world.

Sen. Coulson, an attorney and former assistant state's attorney, warns of a "dictatorship of the judiciary" springing from the financial and tenure security incorporated in the judicial amendment.

The veteran legislator warns of a possible power struggle between the judiciary branch of government and the executive and legislative branches and urges members of the bar to open their eyes to the possibility of "judicial tyranny."

As a possible safeguard against abuse of the new power potential of the judiciary Sen. Coulson suggests that some of its many appointive powers be vested in city councils, the board of supervisors, mayors and other officials and public bodies.

Sen. Coulson also calls for a long, hard look at the concept of home rule through local charters, the waning influence of the legislature in its power struggle with the executive; problems of local and state revenue; public pensions and welfare; personnel problems, industrial growth, education at the various levels up through college.

The booklet is thought-provoking in that it sends up warning signals and it suggests some areas of action to meet the challenges.

Last week was a quiet one in the courthouse with many of the officials attending the convention of the National Association of County Officials in Chicago.

One of the major areas of discussion for county board members centered on the establishment of county government charters which would give a larger measure of "home rule" to the counties.

There will probably be conferences on new ways to get access to federal funds for everything from building bomb shelters to buying Polish for the badges sported by deputy sheriffs.

Letters to the Editor

Gentlemen:
Recently we had the happy experience of talking to our son in Okinawa, via amateur radio to California and thence to Waukegan, by telephone. My wife wrote a letter of appreciation to the Letters to the Editors of the Waukegan News-Sun, which was subsequently published as enclosed. One of your local townspeople read it and asked us if we would please mail you a copy of the article to publish in your local paper so that the amateur in your area would be made aware of our gratitude. We are only too happy to comply with this request and have enclosed the same to use at your discretion.

God Bless 'Em

Recently we had the happy experience of talking to our son who is a Marine stationed in Okinawa. This was made possible through the efforts of the "ham" operators at the Marine Base at Camp Pendleton.

Needless to say, how grateful we are to these men. They do this on their own time and consider it a favor to them when they can bring happiness to a fellow Marine.

Our deep gratitude for all these men for the fine job they are doing and God bless and protect them.

It's Cheaper To Buy Off The Shelf

As anyone who has been reading the newspaper these days knows, the auto industry is under going a boom. In case you haven't had time for the news columns you might have found out the same thing by having to wait three to six weeks for a new car delivery.

Where everyone is getting all the money or why they're spending so much of it buying new cars is something that puzzles most of us. (It must really confuse the Communists who had it figured that Capitalism would be down the drain about now.)

Anyway if you are one of the exploited workers who are getting sick of your old car and want to step into a new one then you would do better to seriously consider buying one that the dealer has in stock.

The variety of options such as color, trim, transmissions, seats, etc. are fantastic. The industry could literally produce a million cars and not have any two alike! Ask any dealer and he'll tell you it's enough to give him 'optionitis'.

Anticipating the most popular features and extras from past years, we order showroom and display models for immediate delivery.

There are two big advantages to buying these cars "off the shelf": you get your car immediately with no waiting and we are in a position to give you a better deal on your old car because it will be available for sale now without additional depreciation.

Come in and look at what we have. If you do want to order from the factory it is far better to do so early in the model run.

Desert Dream

I spoke to her with soothing words, tried to calm her racing brain, but my voice, I doubt she even heard. My efforts were in vain.

At last she stumbled to a stop. And laid me on the ground. 'Twas then I saw the crimson drop from her nostril trickling down!

Her heaving sides, her gasping pant. Like a sword through me did run. I wondered—were we far from camp?

Would no help ever come? I tried in vain to move, to rise; I softly called her name. She looked at me with dulling eyes.

Then slowly to me came. 'O Desert Dream, my priceless one. Can you forgive my sheik. For the hurt to you this day he's done—

Her soft nose brushed my cheek! From her lowered head, with my one good hand, Her bridle I removed.

I tried to loose the broad grith band. But too great a task it proved. I talked to her to quell my fear, To calm her all I could; I told her horse was near so dear—

I think she understood. Then, Allah be praised! I heard her shout. Of my men not far away! The Dream, too, slowly looked about.

And I heard her feebly neigh. They were just beyond a ridge of sand. That hid us from their view, And I tried in vain to shout, to stand.

But nothing could I do! Once more the Dream nosed my cheek, my hand, my head. Then she turned and moved away.

Her heavy hoofs dragged in the sand, I saw her stagger—sway! With breaking heart I watched my horse, so brave, so true!

And as she went, unsteady—slow, A dread fear in me grew. Up the ridge she strove, toward the searching men.

And I heard her quavering neigh, But their voices died to stillness again— They had missed her! I fainted away!

I opened my eyes to Abdul Khan. As he o'er me, anxious bent. "Not me," I whispered, "to my mare, good man, For she is badly spent!"

He did not move—I dared not speak. As he slowly shook his head, "It is too late, beloved Sheik, The Desert Dream is dead!"

"We were passing on when we heard her neigh. Then she staggered into view; She fell as she tried to turn away To lead us back to you."

He carried me with gentle care. Where lay my lovely Dream; I stroked her mane and sweat-streaked hair. And tears down my face did stream.

She looked so strangely quiet there! At last her head seemed to be. Yes, Allah, indeed, had heard my prayer.

The Desert Dream was free! "Oh, Allah," in remorse I cried, Heap vengeance on my head! 'Twas not my horse that should have died.

But my worthless self, instead. The moaning wind rose to a scream. And woke me with its shriek— Ah, glad was I 'twas but a dream And I was not a sheik!

School Board...

(continued from page 1) There are very few places left for students to hunt, he pointed out. Many groups of students have interests they would like to pursue on a day off for which allowances can not be made.

Representatives of the Senior class asked the board to relent on a policy made last year discontinuing the custom of a Senior class trip. The board upheld the policy, refusing to O.K. the trip.

Laurence Eggleston, Dean of Boys, reported to the board on a couple of disciplinary cases he had, and on the action taken.

Assistant Superintendent Warren Polley was given the permission of the board to have a school bus, a 1956 International, repaired, with the work to be done by the Olson Implement Co.

A motorist is usually wrong when he passes on the right. Most states have laws against this sort of thing. Exceptions are indicated by signs, police instructions and special emergency measures. It's a dangerous practice, made even more so by the higher speeds on throughways.

the control of the County Board if not used by the Building Commission—the right of the public to the lands is terminated.

4. The fourth count questions the constitutionality of various sections of the Building Commissions Act. The Supreme Court refused to consider this aspect of the case in the previous appeal, because the county court had refused to consider it.

5. This count questions the legality of the corporate tax levied in Lake County since 1957. The suit charges it is illegal, being in excess of actual needs of the county. The Board promised in 1956, Mr. Hamer says, to eliminate this tax after the office of the township collector was eliminated. If the money were not actually needed.

6. This count requests an accounting from the Building Commission showing how much of the money which has been transferred to its account has been spent at the time the original suit was filed. The complainants contend that only 20% of the funds had been spent at that time. The Supreme Court, Mr. Hamer says, was under the impression that all funds had been spent.

The complainants ask that a referendum be held to determine how much money may be used for the construction of the courthouse; a return of the funds of the Building Commission to the County Board, and that the funds be put in a special account for one year. Taxpayers could then sue the county, Mr. Hamer says, to secure a rebate on their corporate taxes since 1957.

The Supreme Court suggested, Mr. Hamer said, that each taxpayer who objected to the continued levy of the corporate tax should have sued in county court for the return of the promised rebate. Whatever funds are left in the special fund, Mr. Hamer said, they are asking be applied to subsequent tax levies for corporate purposes.

The suit also asks the reconveyance of the courthouse to the Lake County Board of Supervisors.

Watch Out For Carbon Monoxide

Carbon Monoxide is a deadly enemy of the motorist, cautions the Chicago Motor Club.

This colorless, odorless, tasteless gas can become a sneaky killer in cold weather as even small doses of the lethal gas may cause an accident by slowing down driver reaction. The motor club points out that one part of carbon monoxide in 700 parts of air can be fatal; one part of carbon monoxide in 1,700 parts of air can cause nausea.

Warning symptoms of carbon monoxide are nausea, drowsiness, headache, delayed braking reaction, faulty coordination and poor vision. When these reactions are noted, car occupants immediately should inhale deep breaths of fresh air.

Carbon monoxide is produced by imperfectly burned motor fuel. An excess may be produced by faulty engine adjustment, but even the best adjusted engine may leak enough carbon monoxide to be fatal. Chief danger points are faulty gaskets, defective exhaust systems, and clogged exhaust pipes.

To avoid being overcome by carbon monoxide, the motor club's safety and traffic engineering department recommends the following precautions:

—Never run a motor in a closed garage or other unventilated enclosure. Open all garage doors before starting the engine.

—Always keep one car window at least partially open to assure some air circulation. —Shut off the motor if you are sitting in a parked car for more than a few minutes.

—Check your car's engine for proper combustion. —Check all points of the exhaust system for leaks and stoppages.

Remember, your car's exhaust pipe may become clogged by backing into a snow bank.

SAFEGUARD YOUR HEALTH

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE ILLINOIS STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY

SAFE "RECIPE" FOR TURKEY AND TRIMMINGS

With the holidays upon us, it's turkey-time again. If you want to be sure of keeping your dinner guests in feast-eating condition, use caution in preparing your turkey and storing leftovers.

Turkey dressing creates the biggest health hazard—principally because of the size of the bird. Even though it takes hours and hours to roast a turkey properly, heat does not always penetrate to the very center of the dressing with sufficient intensity to kill all bacteria.

Instead, it may only serve to incubate the bacteria and the outside meaty portions of the bird may be done before the dressing has completely cooked.

If you use giblets in your dressing, always cook them first—even if grandma's favorite recipe doesn't include this extra step.

Do not stuff your bird early and then freeze it, even overnight. Chilling or freezing sufficiently to preserve the turkey will only complicate the problem of bacterial growth, both during the time it takes the bird to freeze and during the thawing and baking process.

Thawing takes time and if cooking is started before thawing is complete, the heat may only serve to stimulate bacterial growth.

Allow plenty of room for expansion when you are stuffing your turkey. Pack the stuffing lightly and you'll have a more appetizing, fluffier finished product, but more important, you'll allow more room for the heat to penetrate.

Last, but not least, forget forever the old wives' tale that leftovers should be pl-lowed to cool at room temperature. Whisk yours off to the safety of the refrigerator just as quickly as you have recovered enough from your feast to do so. You'll preserve your goodies in better condition and cut the chance of spoilage as well.

In the business world an executive knows something about everything, a technician knows everything about something—and the switchboard knows everything.

The Holidays Are Here! ... with their parties and fun and excitement. But what to wear? Especially to a business party given by your husband's company!

"Course you can always check with other wives to see what they're wearing. But if on your own, just try to wear a simple, understated dress. If brand-new, try dress on the day before.

Maybe you'd like to correct some small thing—loose snap, thread showing, etc. And always try on all your accessories—shoes, handbag, jewelry—to see the total effect and eliminate anything that seems "fussy."

EXTRA TIP: Now is not the time to try any tricky or totally strange hairdo or makeup.

Setting up card tables for extra company? Avoid spills and mess because tables pull apart. Just use ordinary rubber bands to hold adjoining legs together.

Get your artificial flowers looking like new again! Wash with mild soap and warm water, using small brush for hard-to-get-at places. After rinsing, place in pillowcase and hang on line to dry.

Shopping for all those gifts can become quite a chore if your feet are tired. But an ounce of effort can keep your feet happy and your spirits gay! Start out by pre-planning your shopping list to the layouts of the stores, to avoid doubling back and forth.

Walking shoes give the best comfort. Flats may add to leg and foot strain, especially if you're used to high heels. It's hard on feet and legs to go abruptly from slippers, but alternate heel heights as often as you can. Don't throw out those smelly old sponges and plastic place mats. Just toss them in the washer with some other heavy things ... they'll come out clean and fresh.

Holiday Snack Hints: Store leftover potato chips, pretzels, crackers in freezer up to a month—candy up to 6 months. In air-tight pack, unsalted nut meats will keep a year. (Watch for Maggie every week!)

We observe here quite frequently, our views of growing government spending at all levels. Our motivation is not hard to determine; we pay taxes and so do the readers of this newspaper. . . . It seems to us that somewhere, somehow, this trend must stop. We realize that politicians, in order to perpetuate themselves, need to put people on the government payrolls, but there must be a limit somewhere. We think we passed it several years ago. —Lambertville, N. J., Beacon

Inside Antioch High

By Marilyn Gras

The news of President Kennedy's death stunned students at ACHS just as it did the rest of the world. Most of the students did not even know the President had been shot until the Student Personnel office announced over the PA system that he was dead. One boy said that when he heard the announcement he thought he had fallen asleep in class and was dreaming. Others thought at first that the announcement was a terrible joke. Many girls had tears in their eyes.

Events at the school went on as scheduled over the weekend, although there was no school Monday. Friday night Antioch's varsity wrestlers lost to Harvard, but the Frosh-Soph team beat its opponents. The Sequoit basketball team lost to the McHenry Warriors Saturday night by the score of 75-45. Antioch led only once during the game 2-0.

Saturday night the band played its Fall Concert. One of the numbers they played, "Portrait of the Land," was dedicated to the late President Kennedy.

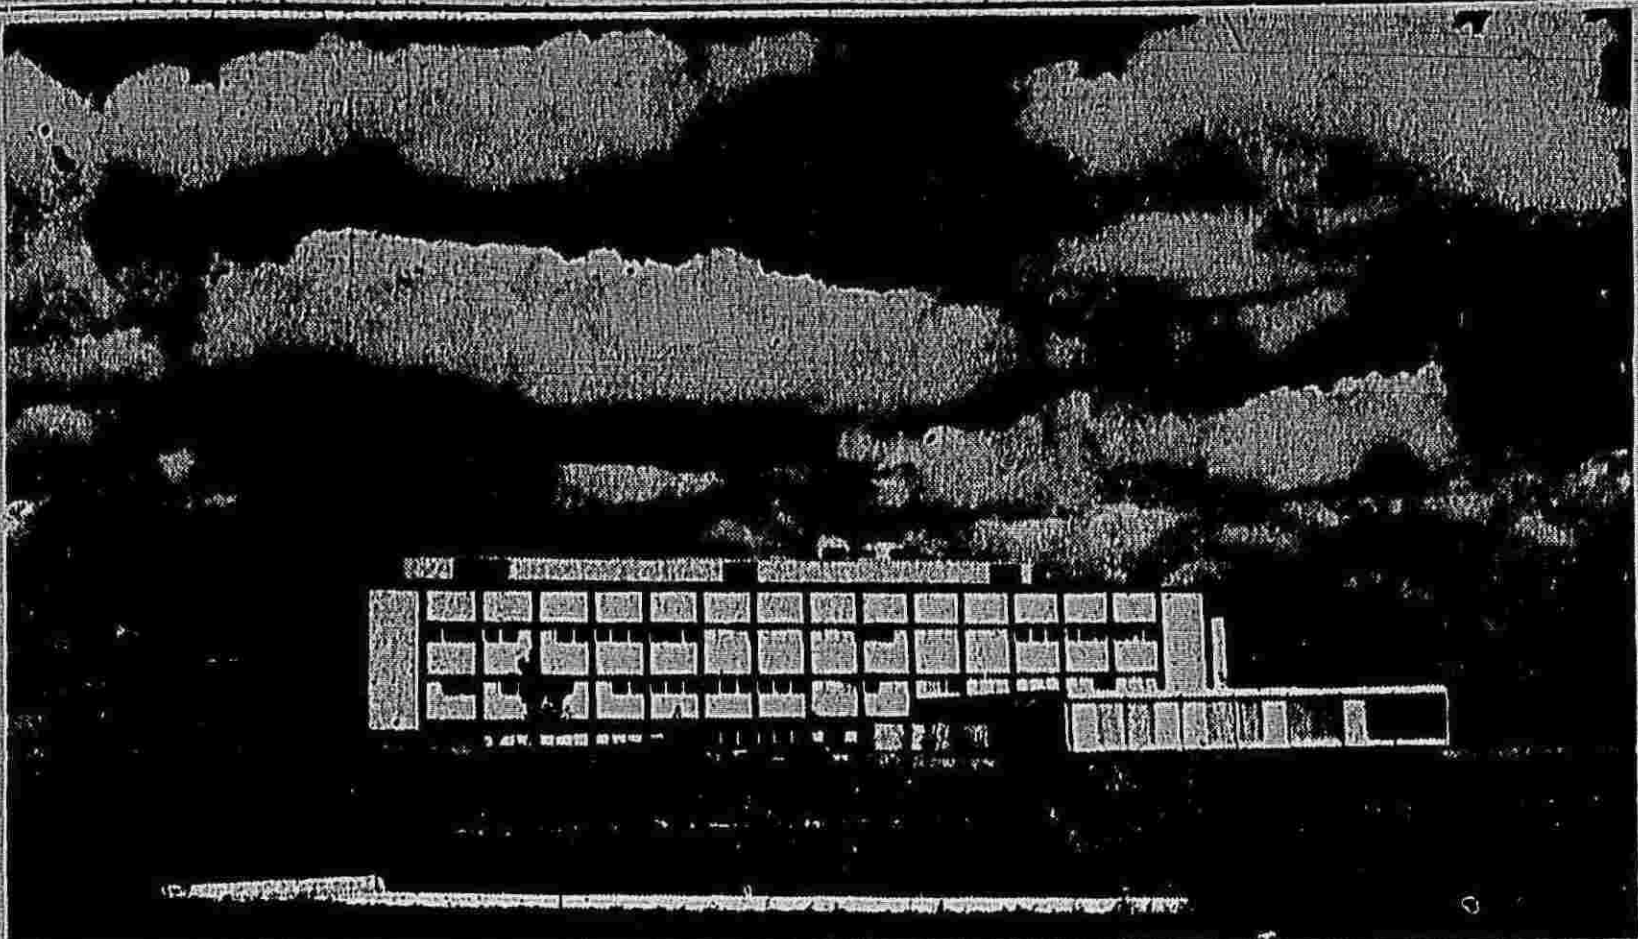

Yesterday (Wednesday) was the last day of school this week. It was also the first dress-up day of the school year.

Tuesday afternoon here at Antioch the Sequoit wrestlers faced Cary Grove. Friday at Lake Forest they will play their first Conference game. Sequoit basketball team met Salem Central at Antioch last night. Both the wrestling and basketball teams will participate in the Mooseheart Tournaments this weekend.

I used to envy those who had a surplus of money; now I envy those with a surplus of health and energy.

by a daughter, Mrs. A. Sine of Waukegan, in 1940.

Private services were held at 2:30 p.m. Monday in the funeral home at 408 N. Sheridan Rd. The Rev. Robert E. Savage, rector of Christ Episcopal Church officiated. Burial was in Northshore Garden of Memories in North Chicago.

Antioch Cagers Lose Opener to McHenry

The Antioch Sequoia's failed in their bid to open the 1963-64 basketball season with a victory Saturday night as they lost to McHenry on the visitor's court. Eleven Sequoia's saw action Saturday as Coach Roger Andrews tried to find the combination and get a rally going but the Warriors outpointed the Sequoia's by the lopsided score of 75 to 45.

John Lear and Ed Matejka, Coach Andrews' two returning lettermen, were the most consistent performers. Lear was the top scorer for the Sequoia's as he dumped in 6 field goals for 12 points. Matejka played a steady game throughout, scoring 9 points.

Bernie Smith and 6' 7" center Vic Rogers, pre-season favorites to carry the scoring load for the Sequoia's this year, managed only 7 points between them as Smith was blanked for the evening and Rogers collected 2 field goals and 3 free throws.

The Sequoia's dropped behind 4 to 2 in the second minute of play and it was McHenry's game from then on. The Warriors out-scored the Sequoia's in every quarter and led at the end of the first stanza 28 to 13. McHenry increased their lead at half time to 44 to 23.

Antioch rallied on the sharp shooting of John Lear in the third period but the Warriors still managed to edge the Sequoia's in scoring for the period 15 to 13. McHenry coasted to victory in the last quarter, collecting 16 points to 9 for the Sequoia's.

Antioch hit on 17 of 59 attempts from the field for a low .30 shooting percentage. McHenry took 70 shots and made good on 30 of them. The Warriors also out-rebounded the Sequoia's 39 to 30.

Antioch's next outing will be Thanksgiving eve against the Salem Falcons. The Sequoia's will have a slight advantage in playing on their home court.

Movie Part of NICC Program

Northern Illinois Conservation Club members will see an exciting movie of God's Lake, at their November 27th meeting, Wednesday night. God's Lake is a virgin sheet of water some 70 miles long and is located 365 air miles north of Winnipeg, Manitoba, in a roadless and primitive area which can be reached only by flying in.

This lake is so deep and so cold that giant lake trout are caught at or near the surface all through their short summer.

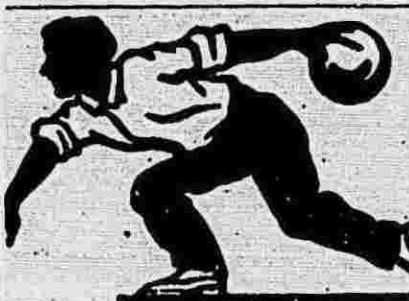

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting as guests of the NICC. There is no admission charge and parking space is ample. On the club agenda is the upcoming Annual Ice Fishing Derby, and a report on the recent Turkey Shoot.

NICC clubhouse and grounds are located on Country Club Road, 1/4 mile south of Highway 173, 3 miles west of Antioch. The meeting starts promptly at 8 p.m.

When they go to department stores, some wives are like General Custer — the only word they know is "Charge."

ED MATEJKA (45) attempts to score for the Sequoia's Saturday night in their game against the McHenry Warriors. The Sequoia's hit for a low 30% from the field in losing the contest 75 to 45.

Safety Rules Cut Hunting Accidents

If you're one of the thousands who will join the ranks of firearm owners this season, it will pay you to remember that sportsmanship and courtesy may save a life — and that life may be yours. You can prevent most shooting accidents — hunting or target practice — if you'll take a generous measure of common sense along on your trips, says University of Illinois safety specialist O. L. Hogsett.

According to Illinois Rural Safety Council reports, three causes account for almost all of the accidents reported: people getting in the line of fire, hunters mistaking people for game and hunters carrying their guns with the safety catch off.

For safer hunting and target practicing, Hogsett lists the following ten commandments of gun safety:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.
2. Before taking a gun into your automobile, camp or home, be sure it is broken down or has the action open.
3. Always be sure the barrel and action are free of obstructions.
4. Always carry a gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle.
5. Be sure of the target before you pull the trigger.
6. Don't point a gun at anything you don't want to shoot.
7. Never leave your gun

Motorists who drive at prolonged higher speeds on throughways risk leaving their alertness miles behind. According to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, a combination of monotony and driving routine soon produce forms of mental fixation known as "highway hypnosis" and "velocity." Both are dangerous, and can be overcome by varying rates of speed and by frequent rest stops.

Now—'64 Chevy II... with a V8 engine

Now you see it. Now you don't. When a Chevy II does that kind of disappearing act you know without looking twice: It's a '64 with a V8 engine.

That's right. A full-grown 495-hp Turbo-Fire V8. It's available for the first time this year along with a choice of three other engines—the standard 4 (in 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6.* (And all of them maintain their high spirits on modest amounts of regular gasoline.)

But the changes aren't confined to what happens when you slip into the driver's seat. There are new styling features like the tasteful grille design and trim accents, for instance. And the larger self-adjusting brakes that further reduce upkeep on a car that already has a reputation of coming about as close to perpetual motion as anything on four wheels can get.

The place to get the full details on the '64 is your Chevrolet dealer's. And after you've got them, we hope you'll attend to one further detail yourself. Drive it.

West Miltmore

By Rosemary Holiday
At the last meeting of the West Miltmore Women's Club everyone gained a pound or two after eating a delicious pot luck dinner. The dinner was organized by Mrs. Bruce Summers who not only made sure there was a variety of food brought by the members, but made the serving so attractive that the ladies agreed it was nicer than "going out" to dinner as had previously been done in November. The members also had an opportunity to pick up some decorating tips from the two films shown about model homes. Even though the women seemed to have had a perfect evening they had to call a man to rescue them when no one seemed to be able to get the projector to operate properly. With good humor, Mr. Melvin Colbert came by and threw the right switch to co-ordinate the film. In appreciation, the ladies served him coffee and cake. It was decided the next meeting would be held on Tuesday, Dec. 17, at 8 p.m. at the Civic Hall. Everyone was asked to bring a grab-bag gift.

Because of the small number of residents attending the recent West Miltmore Civic Association meeting, all business matters had to be postponed. Instead, the matter of children riding unlit bicycles after dark was discussed. Recently many near accidents have occurred due to unmarked bicycles at night. Out of the discussion

Grant High News Notes

Grant High school typing students from all levels are completing their annual typing tournament with more perfect copies than in any previous year.

In the advanced classes Jim Vermillion and Mary Marciniak will go into the finals having produced perfect papers. They will face Dianne Severson who has two perfect copy tests to her credit. Ken Meldahl emerged as consolation winner. Another advanced class taught by Mr. Edward Koch has completed its contest. Bonnie Gordon typed 54 words per minute without error to place first over consolation winner Kathy Teyney.

In the first year classes, winners are John Adams, who had to type six perfect tests in order to win over Reggie Kantack and Harold Gress. Sandy Stuebner, who had but one error won over Melvin Barnard, Darrell Baker, Pamela Manke, Sue Holmes and Kay Borch. Consolation winners are Margie Corrigan, Karen Miller, Pam Habaj, Sue Herronen and Linda Honeyman.

All in all, the contest has proven satisfactory to both teachers and students.

Teacher To Visit Air Force School

Mr. John Dally, Guidance Director of Salem Central High School, is one of the educators of Wisconsin selected to visit the Air Force Academy on December 16 through the 18th.

The invitation has been extended by the Superintendent of the Air Force Academy. The group will consist of superintendents, principals, and guidance directors, with emphasis placed on guidance directors, since they are normally the men the Superintendent works with counseling young men interested in an appointment to the Air Force Academy.

The group will board a 440th Troop Carrier Wing Air Force transport aircraft from Mitchell Field bound for Colorado Springs on Monday morning, Dec. 16, and will return late Wednesday, Dec. 18.

During their stay there will be an escorted tour of the U. S. Air Force Academy, visits to all departments of instruction, athletic departments, and even some of the social life activities of the academy. Many VIP's including Congressmen will be on the same tour.

Mr. Dally has been Guidance Counselor and now Director at Central for eight years and has been doing a great deal of work with students. He has a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin and has taken post graduate work at Michigan, Marquette University and several other universities in the United States.

"Offer Ends November 30"

Now—buy a new electric dryer and save up to $60

In the next 60 days over 25,000 Chicagoand people will buy dryers—most will be flameless electric. Read why you should buy electric. Right now—and for a limited time only—Commonwealth Edison and Public Service Company, in cooperation with your dealer, offers you a chance to save as much as $60 on any new flameless electric dryer. (A cash bonus of $20 from Commonwealth Edison, plus up to $40 that you normally save when you buy an electric dryer instead of gas.) For the average family, this equals about 3 years of free drying! And electricity is simplicity. Because there are few moving parts, electric dryers cost less to maintain. And with no pilot light, your dryer costs nothing when not in use. Clothes dried electrically also come out fresher and cleaner because there are no fumes, flames or products of combustion to mix with them. What's more, nothing dries clothes faster than today's electric dryers. (Only 26 to 30 minutes for a full load.)

See your dealer now for details. Satisfaction on any flameless electric dryer is guaranteed, of course.
